WALTER J. TAFE

A dedication can never fully pay tribute to this man for all he has done for us. As our assistant principal, he has the unenviable tasks of dealing with the discipline problems of the school. His firmness and constancy has gained our admiration and respect; yet he has also gained our appreciation through his devotion to school organizations and his encouragement in our becoming responsible young adults. His inexhaustible school spirit inspired us to be proud of our school. In recognition of his tireless devotion to Memorial, we, the class of 1973, dedicate the EXCALIBUR to Walter J. Tafe.

PRINCIPAL'S MESSAGE

At graduation time it is appropriate to look back at your school years. and to look forward to the years ahead.

During your short lifetimes you have seen extensive changes. Along with the advances in science, medicine, technology, and social improvement have come the negative factors of accelerated use of irreplaceable natural resources, an alarming rate of pollution in the land, the waters, and the atmosphere, excesses in the interpretation of freedom, and disregard for the rights of others.

Looking to the future it is certain that far reaching changes will continue. In order to cope with this uncertain world you will have to use all the education you have received to date and to make continued learning a way of life, But knowledge is not enough. You must adopt the attitude that benefits received should be equaled by services rendered and that freedom should be balanced by responsibility.

CLASS HISTORY

1969 — 1973

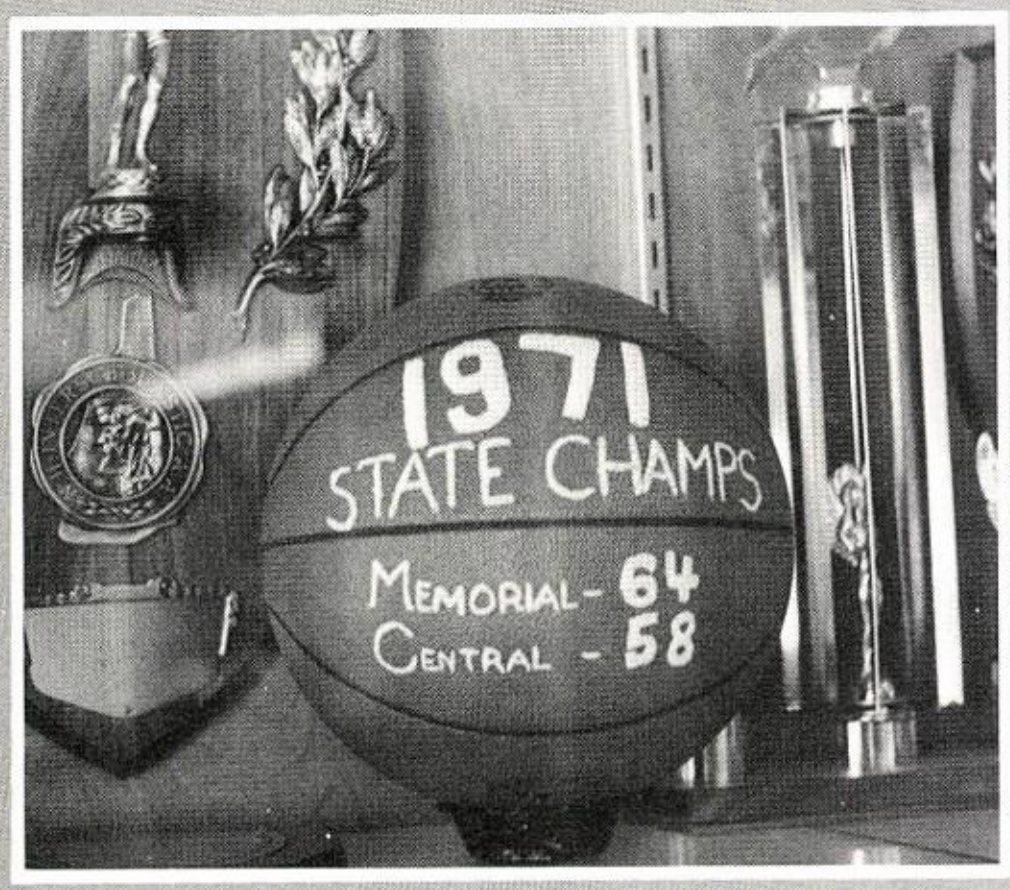
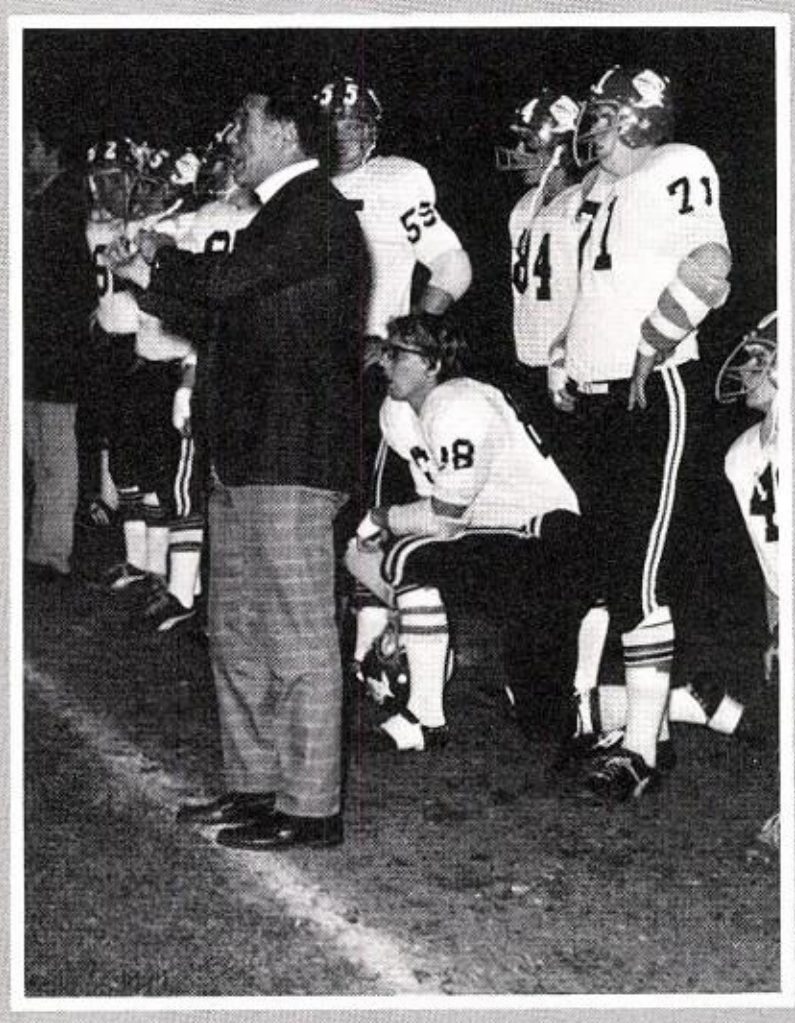
Each one of us has his own memories special to him because they recall special people and places which played an important part in his life for four years. But it isn't these personal good times which make a graduating class great. Rather it is the precedents which it sets, the things it accomplishes as a whole unit — a group of young people working together to leave behind something of value for those who will also pass that way. This is the purpose of a Class History: to put into words the achievements of the graduating class and the outstanding events which influenced it.

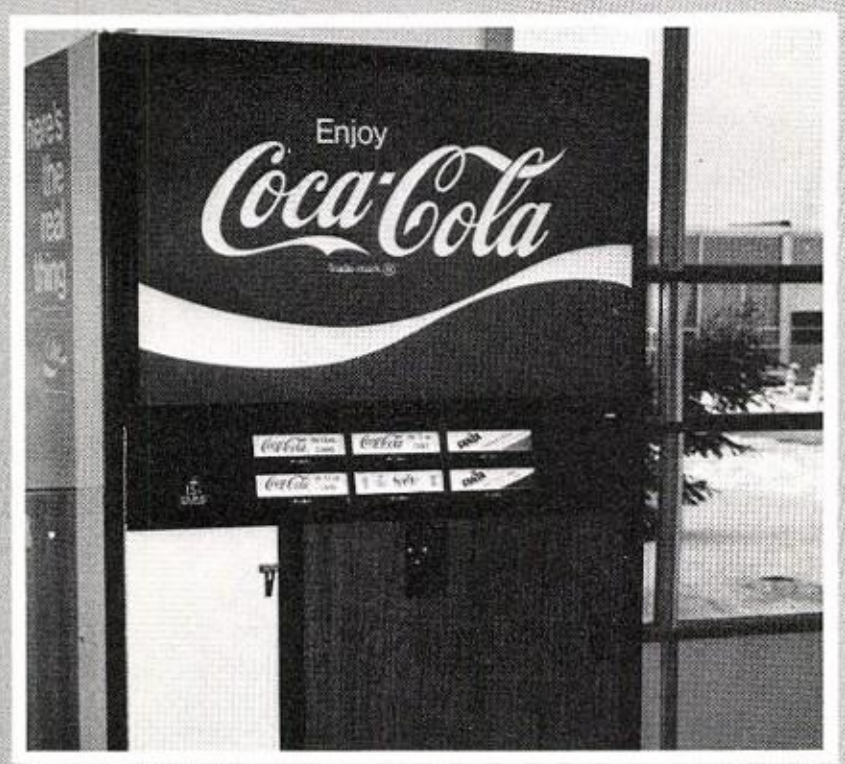
From the very first year, the class of 1973 was destined to be one characterized by change, by a demand for a larger part in school affairs, and by a growing awareness of the world we live in. In 1969 man took his first steps on the moon and we as freshmen stumbled upon the world. The teachers took a stand for what they believed was right and set the mood for later that year when the dress code was abolished — a major victory after a hard fought battle. An even more impossible dream came true when the Mets won the World Series, rocking the sports world on its heels. Closer to home, we swept away the Triple Crown, excelling in football, basketball, and baseball.



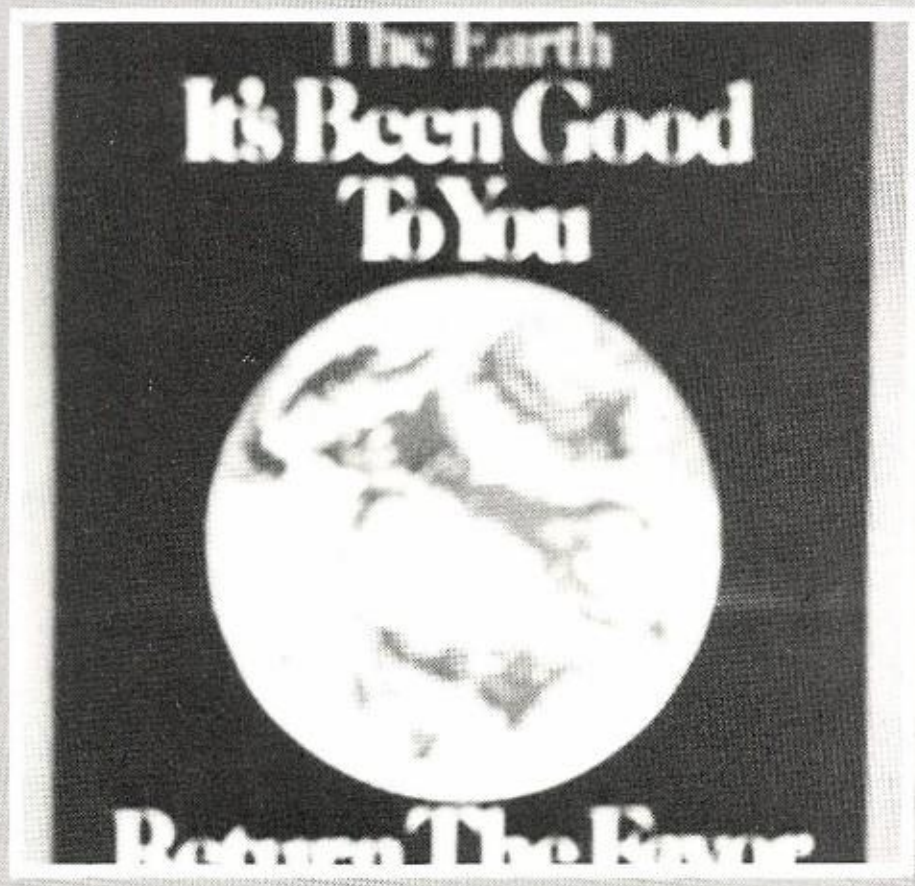


Foreign names of far away places began to play an important part in our lives. Despite the announcement of troop withdrawal from Viet Nam, U.S. forces invaded Cambodia and the nation erupted with controversy over Lieutenant Calley and the My Lai scandal. In a cry of protest the first peace moratorium was held in Manchester. But more violence was to come with the Middle East Crisis. And in Biafra the children starved.

Then we were sophomores and if the world seemed to get smaller it was only because of the Trinity merger which resulted in vast overcrowding at Memorial. It was a time of overall progress though. Coke and candy machines were installed in the school while in beautiful downtown Manchester the N.H. Plaza took its place in the city's skyline. It was the time for trial and error. A system of unstructured study halls was initiated but ended as quickly as it started. A liberal newspaper called the Manchester American experienced an equally short life span under the strain of competition.



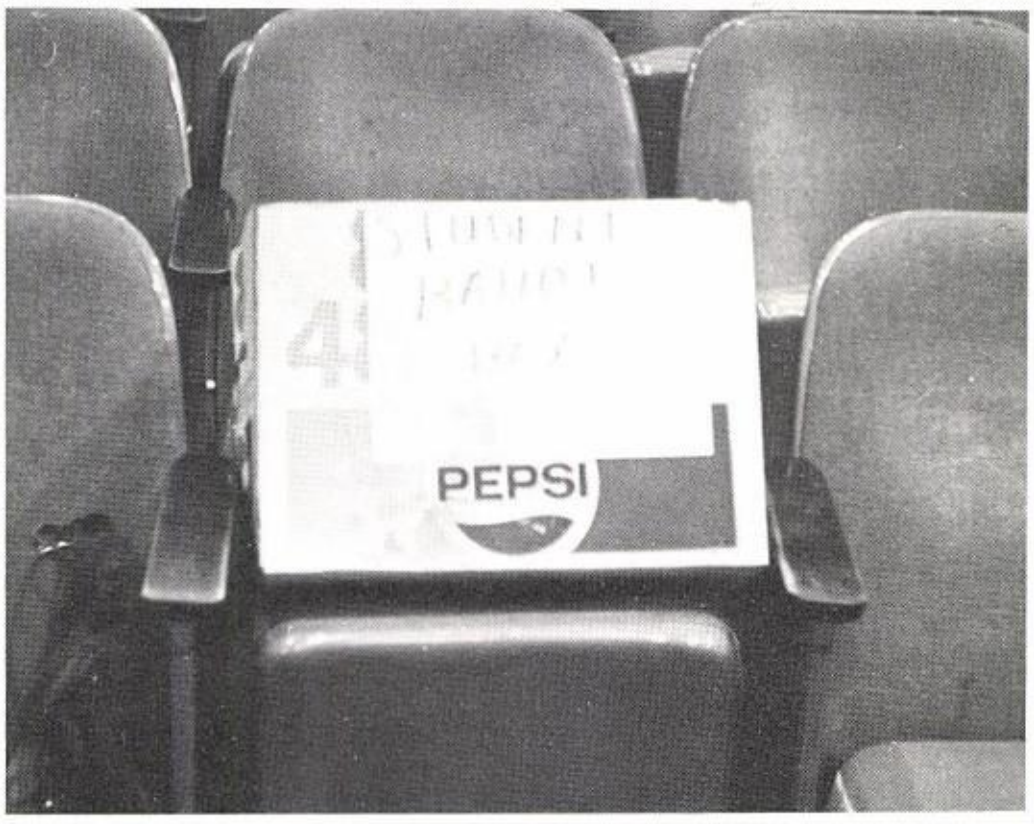
But on the successful side, a coffee house called the AMULET opened its doors to the young public after long months of planning. Athletic prowess remained constant. That year we became the first school in the state to win two consecutive Class L championships in basketball. We wear it well. This year brought the rise of the feminist movement. The first in a long series of demonstrations was held for social equality as ten thousand New York liberationists stormed the streets with the first "Women's Equality Strike."



Never was death so hauntingly prevalent. It crept up on us through the ominously close deaths of Jimi Hendrix and Janis Joplin, considered to be two of the most talented people of our time. But it was a deeper, more chilling pain that came with the murders at Kent State and Jackson State. Injustices like these became more difficult to accept and understand. The senseless skyjackings so often ending in fatal shootings were more numerous and more bloody. And the violence was not confined to a choice few. That year when the Supreme Court passed a ruling on forced integration, angry parents attacked busses filled with children and used terror to dissuade the government.

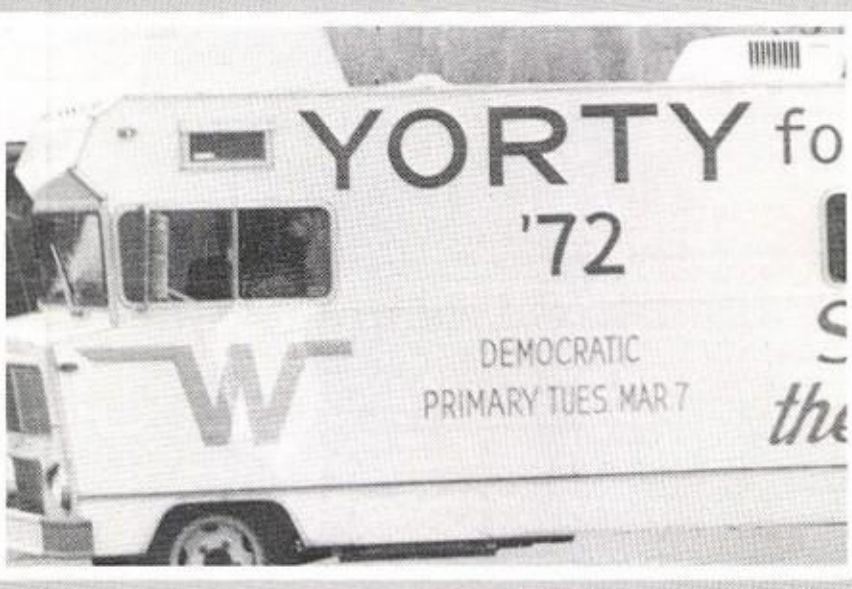
It was the year of the Independent Studies Program in which students could pick up hobbies or seek out people who shared their interests. Study periods were now spent rug-braiding, knitting, cake-decorating, learning about cosmetics, and skiing. The nation's studies were also focused on a new interest: ECOLOGY. That year's State of the Union Address zeroed in on the preservation and restoration of our natural resources.

Above and beyond it all was the eighteen-year-old right to vote granted in June. This more than any other event was to have a lasting influence on Memorial. It served to open whole new political vistas to a generation of voters who found themselves to be the most sought-after group of voters in the country.

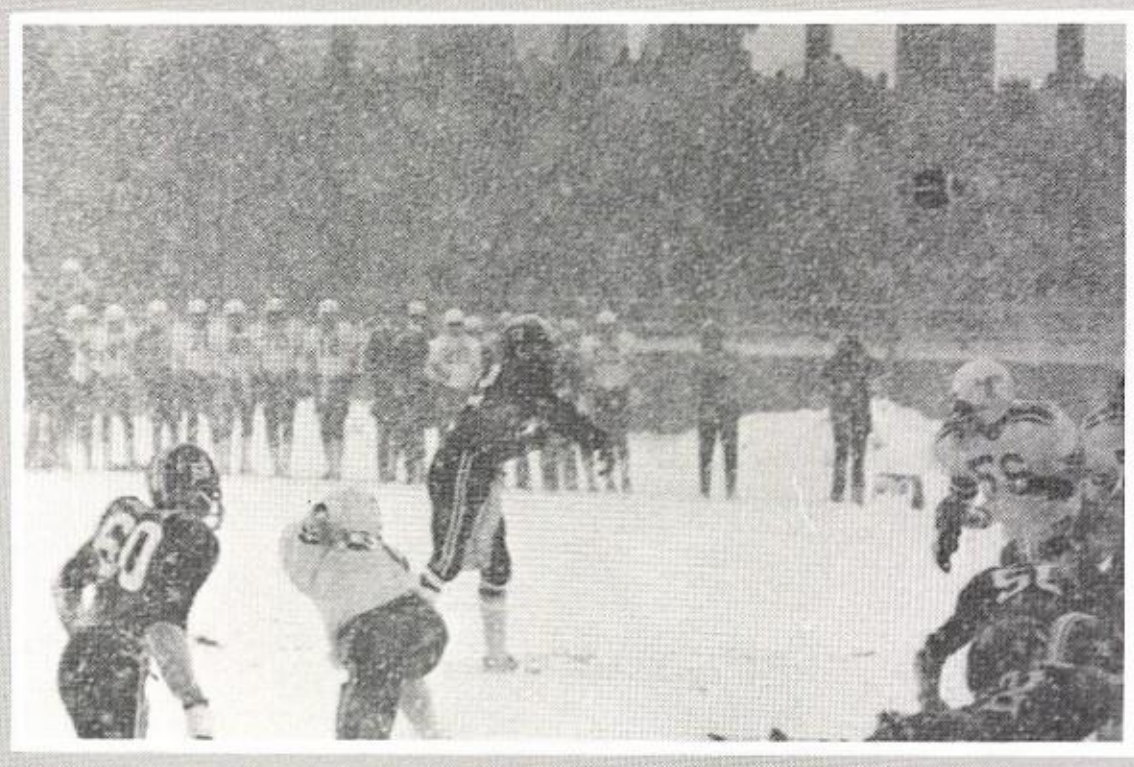


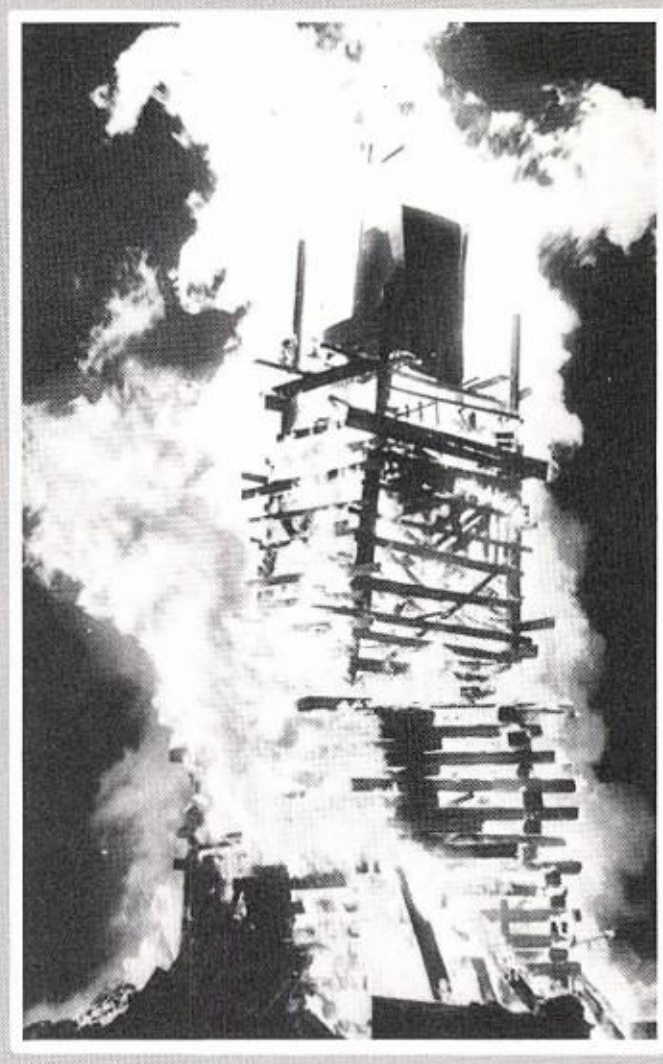
Our junior year, if nothing else, was alive with political activity. Among ourselves we elected class officers and formal organization began. But in the outside world were the primaries and droves of presidential hopefuls. Each was seeking the support of the new young voter and high schools across the nation were besieged by rallies, posters, spokesmen, and the candidates themselves. This wave of political mania brought with it the issues of the election year. There was the economy ever-threatened by inflation. The wage and price freeze was loudly disputed as Phase II approached. There was the Indonesian War to worry about, both at the front and at Paris where the peace talks seemed stagnant. The speeches by the candidates brought to light many issues and questions which led to heated discussions. But most of all the entire experience proved that there are no simple solutions to the world's problems.

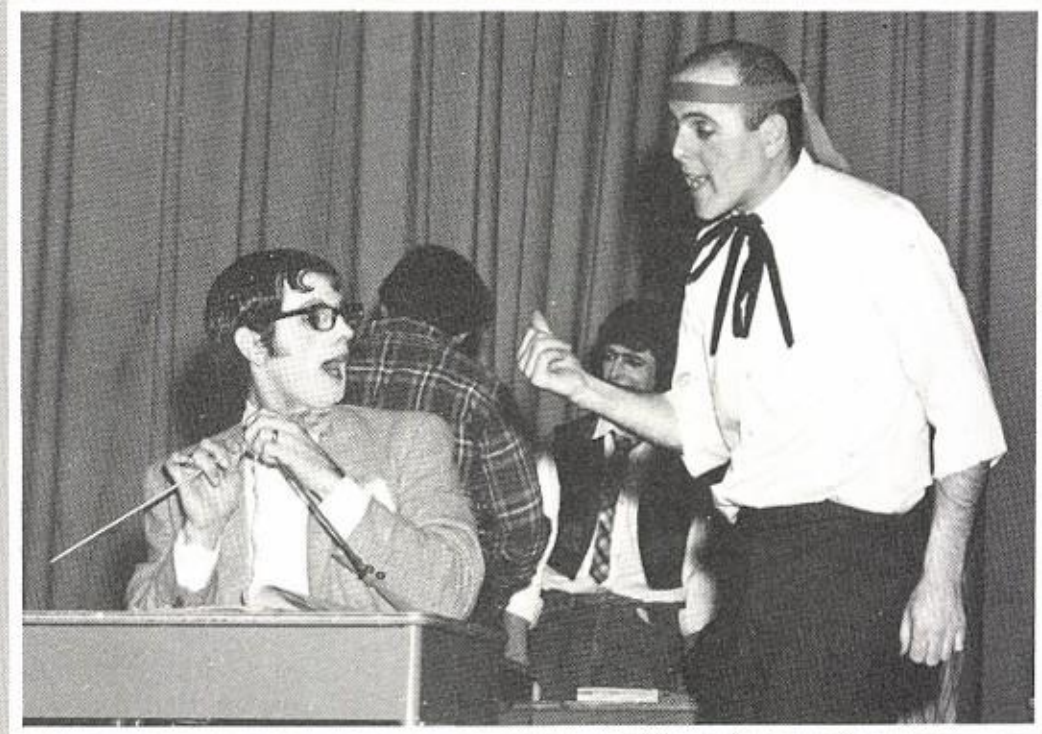
Perhaps it was the political atmosphere which prompted the Student Council to form a delegation to discuss student rights with the administration. Though the delegation failed to achieve changes it did exemplify the first attempt at arbitration between students and administrators. As political tensions increased, the issues complicated. The horror over the Attica State Prison deaths made everyone a lot more aware and a little more concerned about prison reform. There were violent and seemingly pointless massacres in Ireland. Irish were fighting other Irish and then the British stepped in and started getting killed too.



The controversial, militant, and boldly outspoken Angela Davis was caught and charged with murder. And it was all the enraged country could do to wait for her trial. Someone tried to assassinate Pope Paul VI, an act considered sacrilegious even to non-Catholics. A Near-East conflict became the Jordanian Civil War and it wasn't long before the "Bloody Birth of Bangladesh".





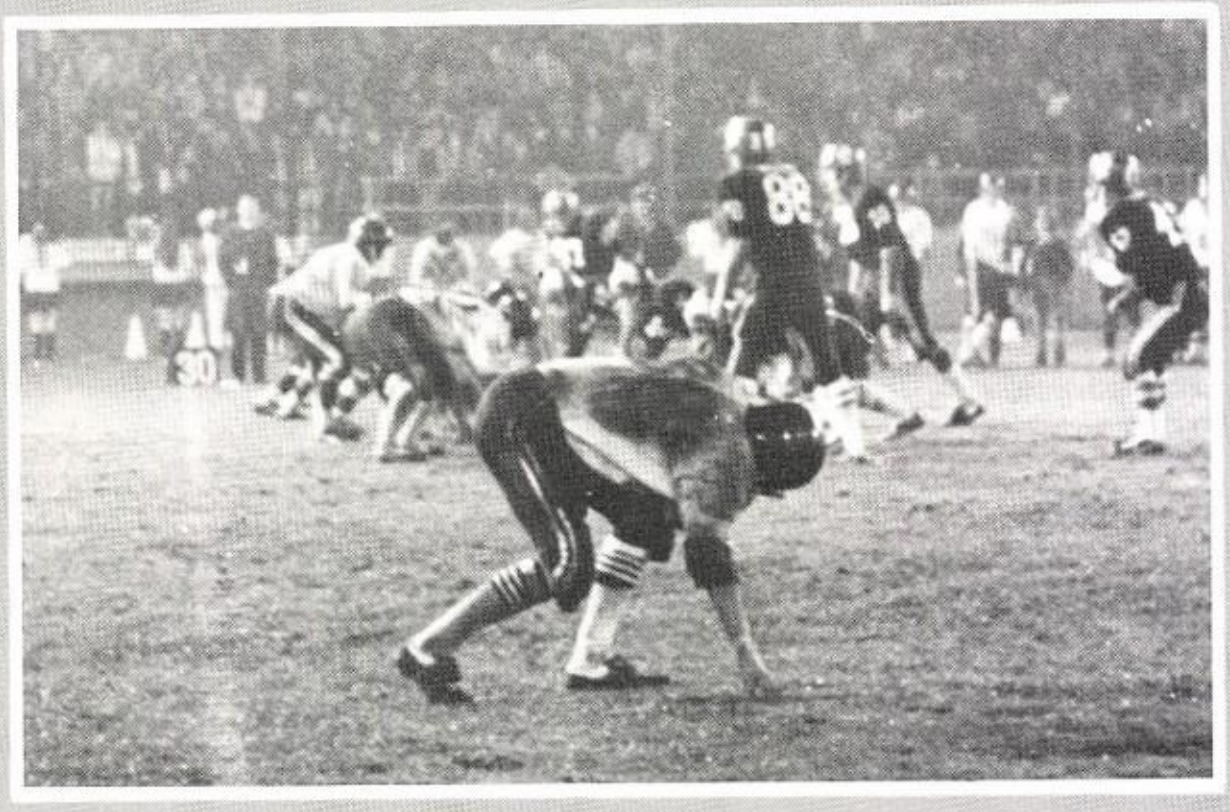


It was an eventful year not only for the world but also for Memorial. That year saw the end of a tradition as the last Bonfire was held on the eve of Thanksgiving. It remains a burning symbol of the triumph of ecology and environment over emotion.

It was the year of the "Snowbowl" when we played against Trinity in the worst blizzard of that winter. The snow was so deep that instead of having the band march at halftime they plowed the field. We won and proudly boasted an undefeated season and the State Championship. The teachers set a precedent that year and many latent theater talents emerged in the faculty presentation of "Why Teachers Go Nuts". From scene one to curtain call it was a smash hit. The tremendous proceeds of the play were used to establish an annual teachers' scholarship to be awarded to a deserving student of the senior class. Perhaps the most memorable event of that year came in the spring with the announcement of the retirement of Mr. Bronstein. Under his guidance a young school had grown up and taken its place among the others. His greatest contribution to the school was himself and the 'pride' he instilled.

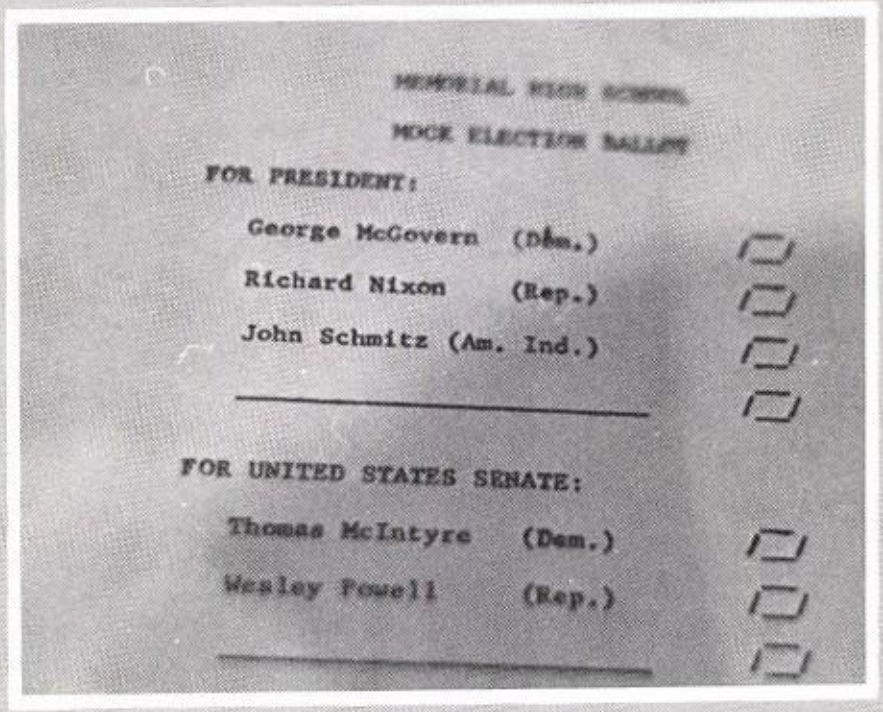
In our junior year an epidemic struck Memorial. It was called "hockey fever". The sport received overwhelming support from the students through the efforts of the Booster Club. In the tradition of supremacy the Crusaders scored and skated their way to two Moreau Cups and two Southern New Hampshire Hockey League Championships.

Summer brought a bicycle craze as thousands took to their ten-speeds for relaxation and adventure. But September came again. The new year began with a new administration under Principal Leonard Foley. We started the school year in the midst of the Summer Olympics and with them an Arab guerilla group called Black September. They were responsible for the violent deaths of eleven Israeli athletes in Munich. The previous year had seen presidential primaries and the Republican and Democratic conventions had made their choices during the summer. So in the fall it was the national elections as Senator George McGovern challenged President Nixon and faced one of the worst defeats in American history.



Our senior year was a sports year. Bigger and better than ever, the Crusader football team finished their second undefeated season, winning the State Championship and breaking the State record for consecutive wins. For the first time in the history of the school a soccer team was begun. And another first was the HOCKEY NEWS, an independent publication by and for hockey enthusiasts.

Politics touched the school on a local as well as national level. Candidates for Governor, Senator, and Congressmen spoke before the student body in a two-day program of political assemblies. Taxation was the main issue and standing firmly against it, Meldrim Thomson was elected governor of New Hampshire. Angela Davis was acquitted, capital punishment was outlawed in California and the Supreme Court made a ruling in favor of abortion. All of these astounded Americans but an even bigger jolt hit Managua, Nicaragua, in the form of an earthquake. The New Year's disaster killed thousands and completely destroyed the Central American capital. Death came to two former presidents as Harry Truman and Lyndon Johnson passed away within a month of each other. It was a painful reminder of our own mortality and the inevitable passing of time.



January brought the long-sought peace agreement in Southeast Asia. We were a generation which had never seen peace and the settlement in Viet Nam inspired hope for the future. The return of the prisoners of war was more than we dared to think of but it became a reality. Families were reunited, fathers held their children for the first time and the anxiety of a decade seemed to be put at rest. In this atmosphere of renewed hope, seniors watched the coming of June. Graduation dates were set, plans for the banquet made, caps and gown measurements taken. And before we knew, the future was history.

Winter Carnival

This year's Greater Manchester Winter Carnival Committee revised the entire procedure of choosing candidates for King and Queen. Candidates for king took part in a foot race at McIntyre Ski Area to determine the winner, while for queen candidates the entire tradition of button-selling was set aside and replaced by a pageant. An appointed faculty committee chose six outstanding students to represent the school in the pageant. The contestants were judged on their scholastic achievement, school and community activities, physical fitness, poise, stage appearance and a judges' interview. The pageant program consisted of musical numbers, a dance routine and evening gown competition. The five contestants from Memorial captured semi-finalists titles.

N.H. Junior Miss

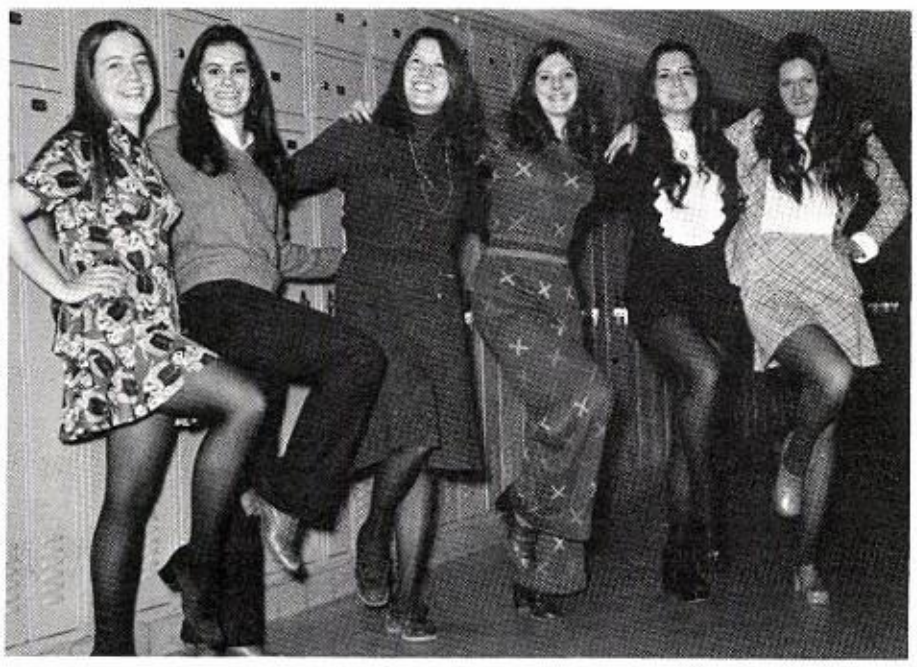
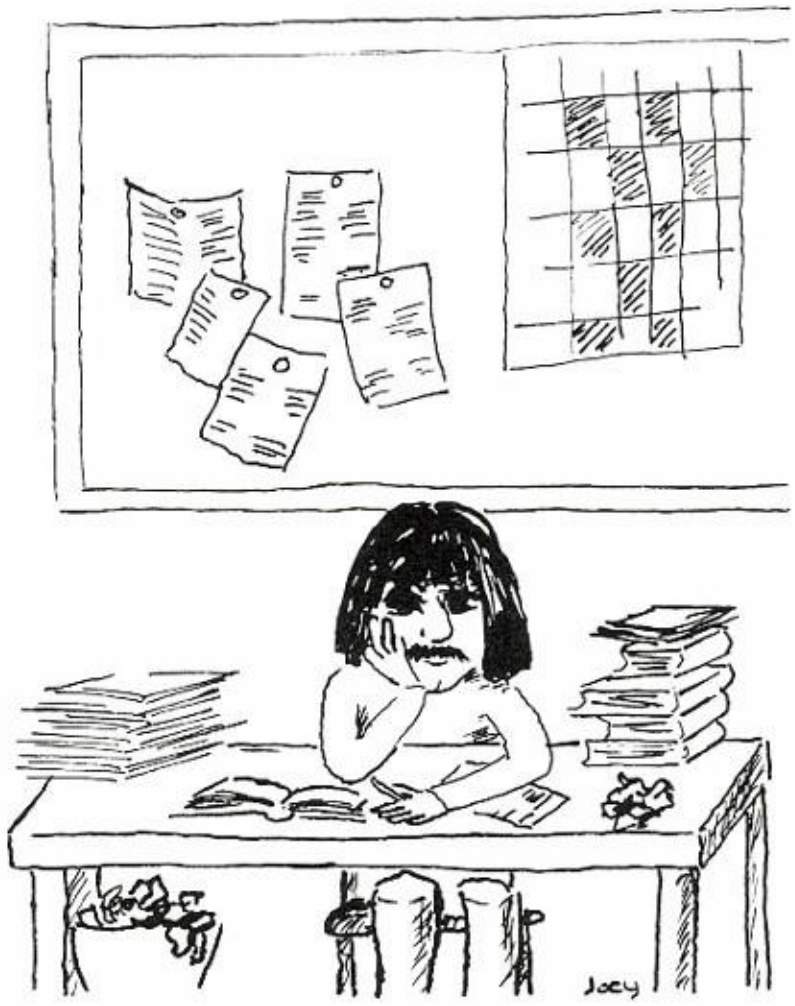
LEFT TO RIGHT: K. Gatsas, S. Barakis, M. Spring, L. Dakoulas, S. Price, D. Maznek.



The New Hampshire Junior Miss Pageant is an official preliminary for the nation-wide America Junior Miss Pageant held in Alabama in March. Entries are on a volunteer basis and all must pass a screening from which thirty applicants are chosen for the pageant. Six girls from Memorial took part in the pageant where they were judged on their poise, appearance, youth fitness, scholastic achievement, creativity, and a judges' interview. Memorialites Madelyn Spring and Kathy Gatsas were among the semi-finalists who gave talent presentations. In the finalists Madelyn was chosen first runner-up and awarded a scholarship bond. In special competition Linda Dakoulas was chosen second runner-up in the Breck Hair Styling Contest.

M. McLaughlin, M. McGuiness



St. Paul's School Advanced Studies Program, offers the opportunity for an intensive six week course in creative writing and a second major course of the students' choosing. This year's participants were part of a very select group of over 150 high ranking students from all across the state. The summer of 1972 saw eight Memorial Students studying such diverse subjects as Advanced Mathematics, Philosophy, Arts, and Biology.

St. Paul's School Advanced Studies Program

Boys' State

During the week of June 18-24, three Memorialites were participants in the Boys' State Program at the New England Aeronautical Institute in Nashua, New Hampshire. The idea of the program is to study State government by forming a small autonomous community with elected representatives, who pass the necessary laws and perform the other procedures to keep the state functioning. Representing Memorial this year were D. Hallinan, T. Kelley and J. Hickey.

Girls' State

In many ways, the Girls' State program is very similar to Boys' State. This year's program held at New England College in Henniker, New Hampshire, involved 100 girls from all over the state. The girls attended lectures in different aspects of state government and were responsible for electing a bicameral legislature, sponsoring bills and other government functions.

Syms

LEFT TO RIGHT: G. J. Wilson, D. Gray, P. Alexander, G. DuBuclet, A. Chase, S. Pawlowski, J. Hickey.

The Summer Youth Music (Syms) school is an independent, two week program sponsored by the University of New Hampshire. Courses of instruction include Music Theory, History of Music, and History of Jazz. In past years students have come from all over the Northeast to attend classes, perform in concert band, wind ensemble, orchestra and chorus groups and to have a great deal of fun doing it.

All State Band

All State Chorus

ALL-STATE CHORUS: C. Bailey, M. Spring, M. Dunbar, K. Wisniewski, S. Smiley. KNEELING: L. Ranfos, J. Harris, D. Woodward. BACK: D. Couture, J. Sweren, J. Hickey, D. Gray, M. Frederick.

All State Band and Chorus is an attempt to bring together the best singers and musicians in the state, and for the successful candidates, it is a much coveted honor. This year, Memorial sent five quartets to compete before judges on the basis of quartet and solo singing ability. Each applicant is given a score, and based on the number of positions available, a cut off point is determined. All State Band competition is strictly solo performance involving mastery of a specified piece as well as scales and sight reading. This year Memorial had the highest combined total of successful applicants for All State Band and Chorus in New Hampshire.

Do you want your son to grow up to be a shake man?

Shake man. Window man. Wrap man. Grill man. Bun man. These are some of the jobs filled by the 21-thousand high school and college men who work full or part-time for McDonald's. Working as a skilled team, these young men make and sell an incredible nearly 2 million hamburgers every day, not to mention shakes and fish sandwiches and orders of French Fries numbering in the hundreds of thousands.

We don't know if the skills learned by the young men will help them become better doctors and lawyers – although their association with McDonald's certainly has some bearing on their ability to pursue professional careers in the first place. The fact may be that a good bun man makes a better doctor than a non-bun man. Who knows? Then again, maybe some of the young men will become McDonald's operators, even owners. Whatever happens, it's a leadpipe cinch that being able to make a good hamburger never hurt anyone.

Students of Memorial High are proud of their school band; it helps support school spirit at pep-rallies and other school functions.

During the football season, the marching band performed rousing half-time shows.

Under the superb direction of Mr. Mirabile, two concerts were provided for the entertainment of the public; additional assemblies were also performed for the student body.

During the winter season, the pep-band provided exceptional support for the basketball and hockey games.

The Student Booster Club is probably the most active organization at Memorial. Its members are dedicated to the preservation of school spirit and interest in sports. The Booster Club is responsible for painting posters and publicizing weekly games. The members have produced skits at pep rallies and are credited with the revival of hockey enthusiasm. They sell the traditional Mums before the Trinity game and raise funds through profitable bake sales. Their unprecedented Spaghetti Supper has taken its place among the yearly events at Memorial. As a social organization, the club has parties and this year took a trip to Boston.

"THE FATE OF A RUNNER"

He is someone who is not out for glory for you know, Cross Country is hardly heard of.
It's someone with guts to finish.
It's only 2 ½ miles of sprinting.
When he feels he can't go any further he somehow finds new strength.
He is known only by his fellow teammates for fame is short, and one paragraph can't be carried for eternity.
He keeps the past with the past and lives with the present, losing with the team if he doesn't finish, and putting himself to shame.

Golf Team

The Golf Team plays a 14 game schedule, going 6-8-0 this year. It is composed of nine members, plus 2 alternates. Qualification for the team is determined by a match of 36 holes, after which only nine candidates, those turning in the lowest scores, are accepted. Playing 18 hole matches, the golf team's season runs from mid-September to mid-October. Central, West, Trinity, Concord, and Nashua, are among their rivals. This year, Mike Haggis became the first Manchester golfer to ever win the State Golf Tournament, turning in the lowest score.

Soccer

Could Memorial produce the athletes, spirit, and determination to start another sport? The elation that followed our first win gave us our answer. Only Coach Shaughnessy could have brought a first-year team to a winning season of five wins, four losses, and one tie.

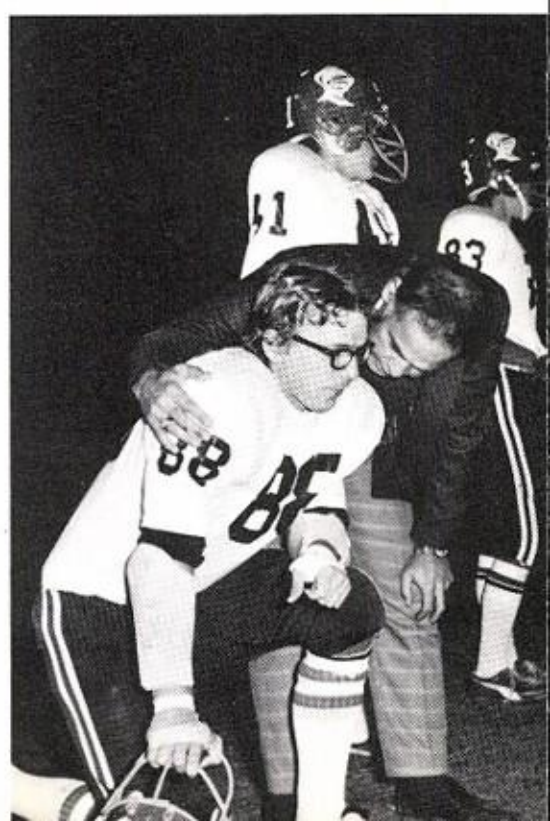
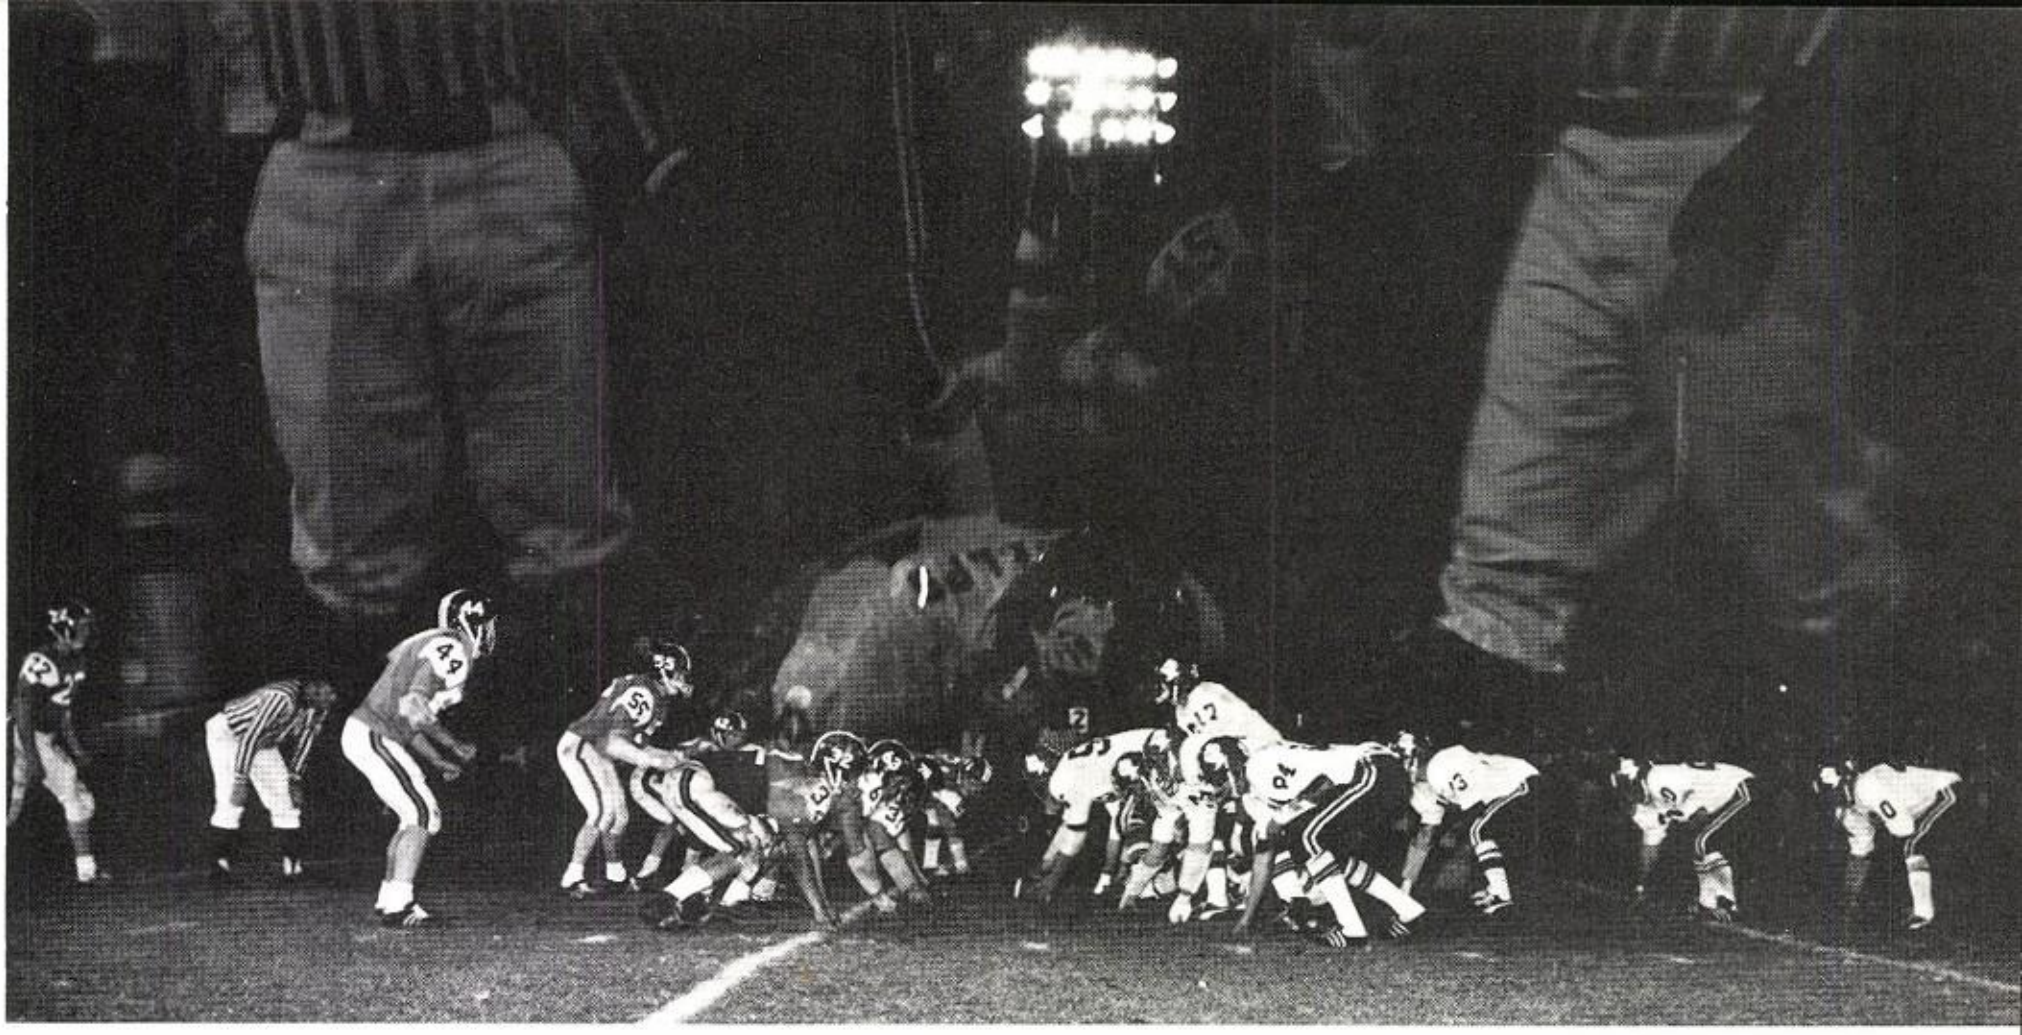
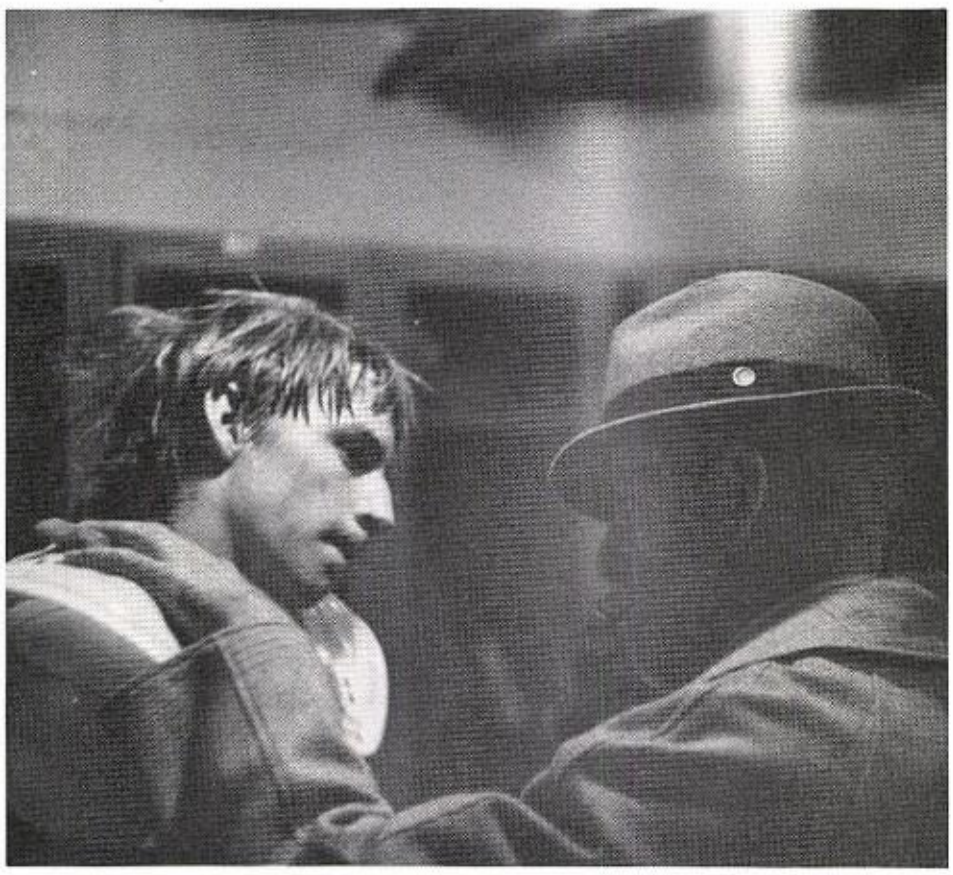
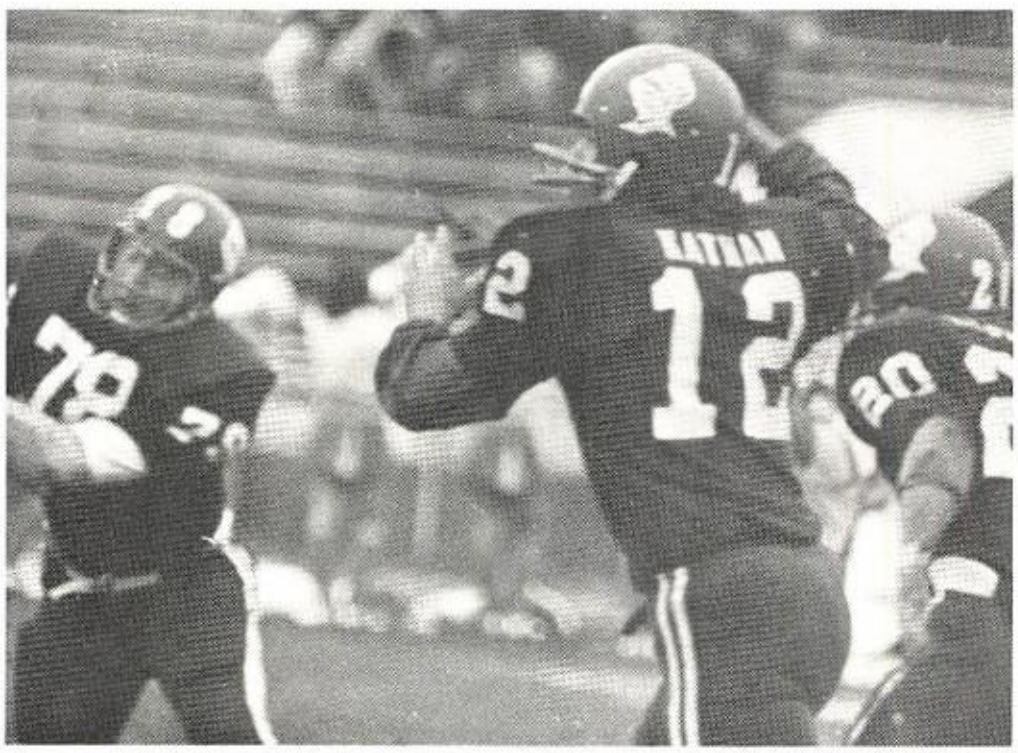
CENTRAL









The 1972 varsity football team tore through the season leaving behind broken school and state records, a second consecutive undefeated season and finally, the Division I Championship. Their secret of success: team work and long days of practice, combined with raw talent. This combination created the Crusader machine which took the state by storm and produced twelve out of twenty-two 1972 All-State players.

There are no banners at a swim meet. There are no wildly cheering fans, no pep bands, no confetti. But there is much talent — talent that is cultivated through competition and perfected with style.

There is also a sense of pride in being a swimmer; pride which refuses to be diminished by students' passive interest. Glory is inward and personal, but it is nonetheless gratifying to the swimmer. His glory does not begin with the plunge, but rather when he emerges, proudly, and with a sense of accomplishment.

Bowling Team

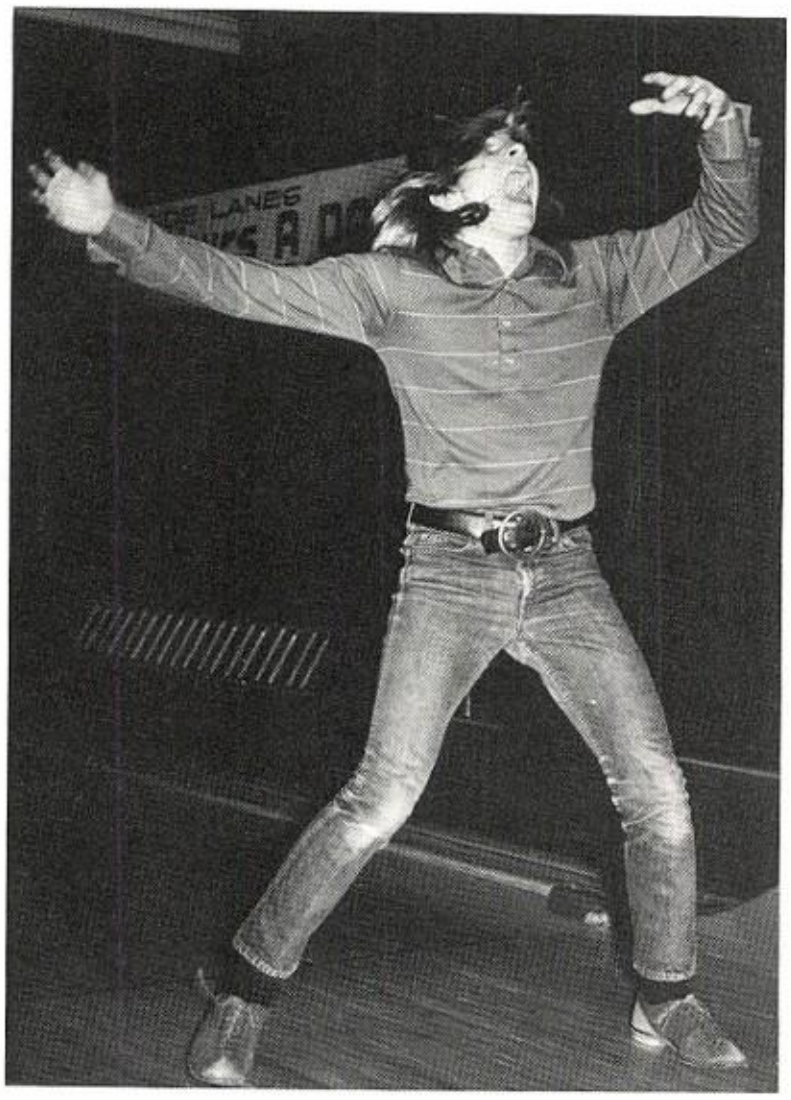
M. Christodoulo, President, M. Chouinard, Treasurer, S. Sullivan, Secretary.



Strike! Spare! These are the sayings heard when the Keglers meet every Tuesday after school at Lakeside Lanes. The league consists of ten teams which compete against each other. During Memorial Week the Keglers challenged the faculty to a match. The boy's team has been the state champion team for four consecutive years. At the end of the year a barbecue was held at the president's home, where trophies were given out to the highest bowlers by Mr. Roland Simard, adviser.

The German Club makes a number of outings. Activities in the past include hiking, skiing, snowshoeing, and camping. Trips have been made to "The Wursthaus," a German restaurant in Cambridge, Massachusetts. Advisor is Mrs. S. Hartmann.

The Spanish Club provides a means of continuing the study of Spanish culture outside the classroom. The group views films and slides of Spain and hears lectures on Latin American life, art, and music. This year the club attended a cultural concert of flamenco dancing by Jose Greco at St. Anslem's College. They had their annual bake sale and Christmas party Spanish style complete with — Mexican food.

The Junior Classical League, formerly known as the Latin Club, is open to all students enrolled in Latin classes or anyone interested in the Classics. The League encourages an interest in the Classics and an appreciation of the importance they play in our lives. "Memorial Buttons" were sold as a money-making project. The members attended monthly meetings of the New Hampshire Junior Classical League and hosted some meetings this year.

The F.T.A. members are involved in tutoring students in various schools in the city. The majority of the members go to Southside Junior High School and tutor in science, music, art, English, math, or special education. Jewett Street School and the Amoskeag School for the Deaf also have been receiving some help from the club members. The members work at these schools during their study periods or after school.

This concept was initiated and supervised under the direction of Mrs. I. Hagianis, advisor.

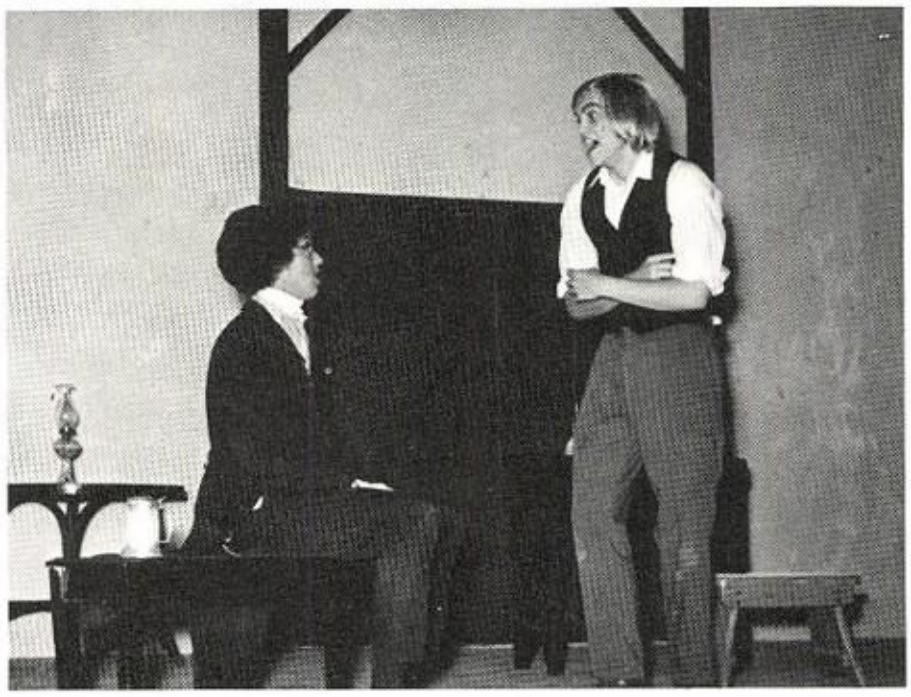
The Memorial High Drama Club began the year with a "never-before-seen" burst of activity. The group sponsored trips to the musicals "Godspell" and "Jesus Christ Superstar". Two plays, "The Boor" and "The Marriage Proposal" by Anton Checkov, were presented in December. During the year the group saw several dramatic productions at various colleges.



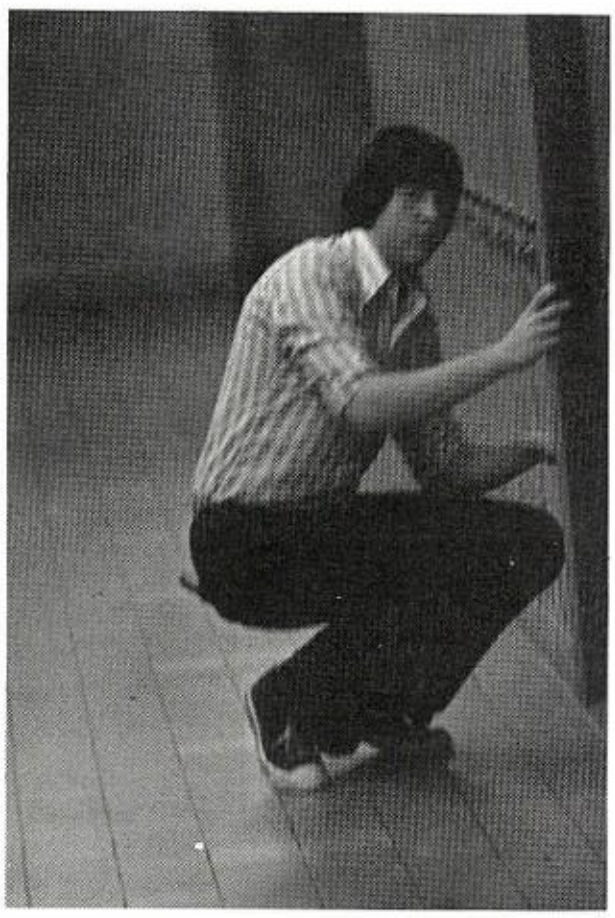
The thinker?

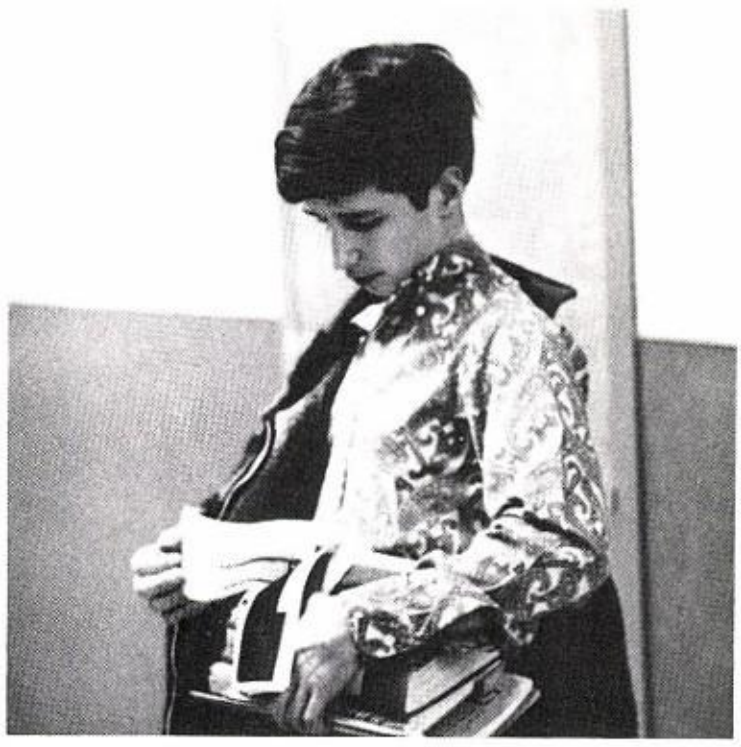
We always act this way when we have a substitute.

You're putting me on.

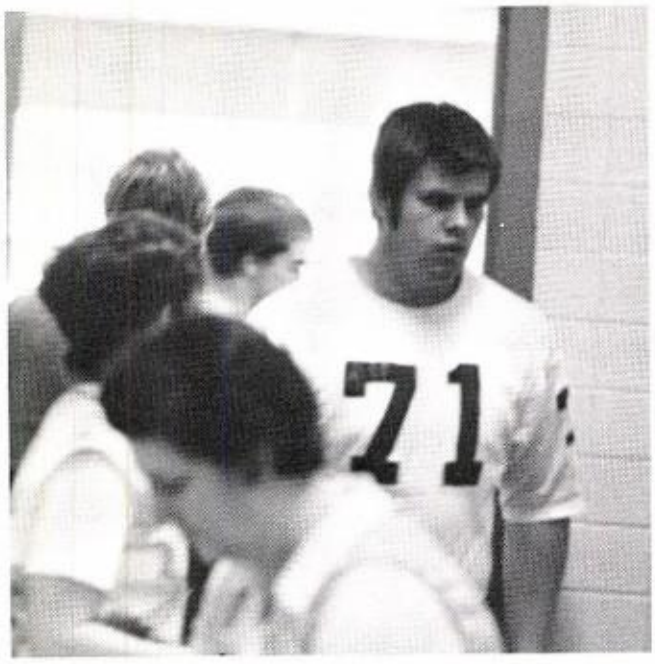
My mother told ME about Ultra-Brite.

What am I doing in what locker?

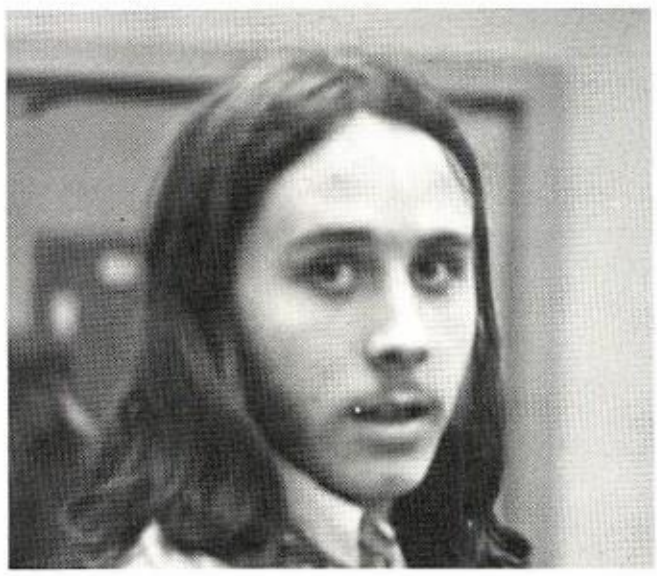




Looks like I don't go home tonight.



Boy, am I hungry!



Let's fly 'em down the hall!

CLASS OF 74

Chucky sings the blues.

Gurgle, gurgle, gurgle.

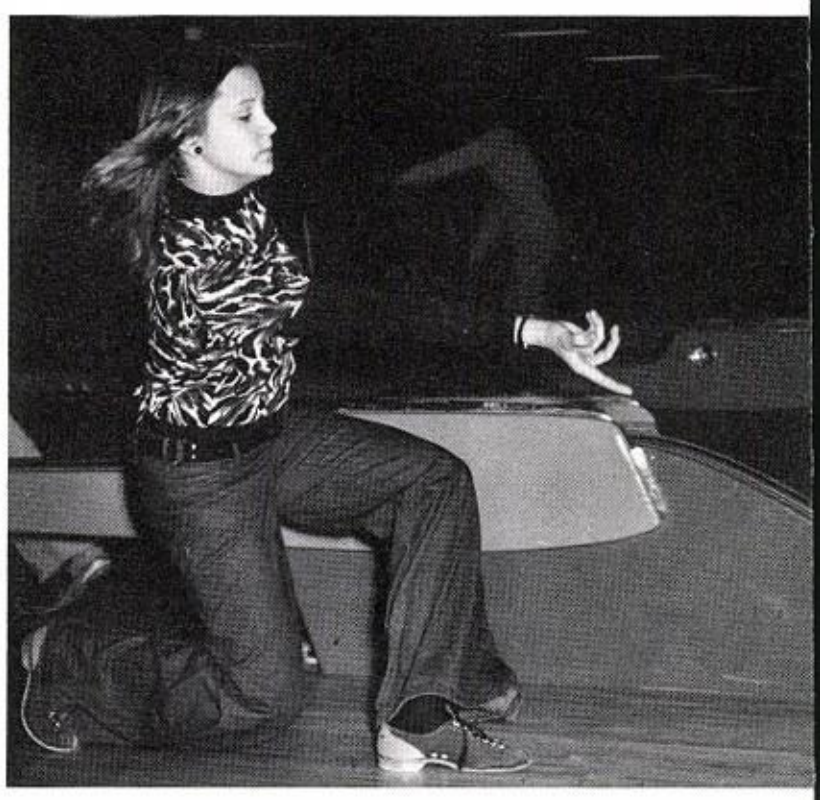
Boy, could I go for some ice cream with whipped cream and mmmmm, a cherry.

Only 32 days, 45 minutes and 17 seconds until spring vacation.

All I vant is your blood.

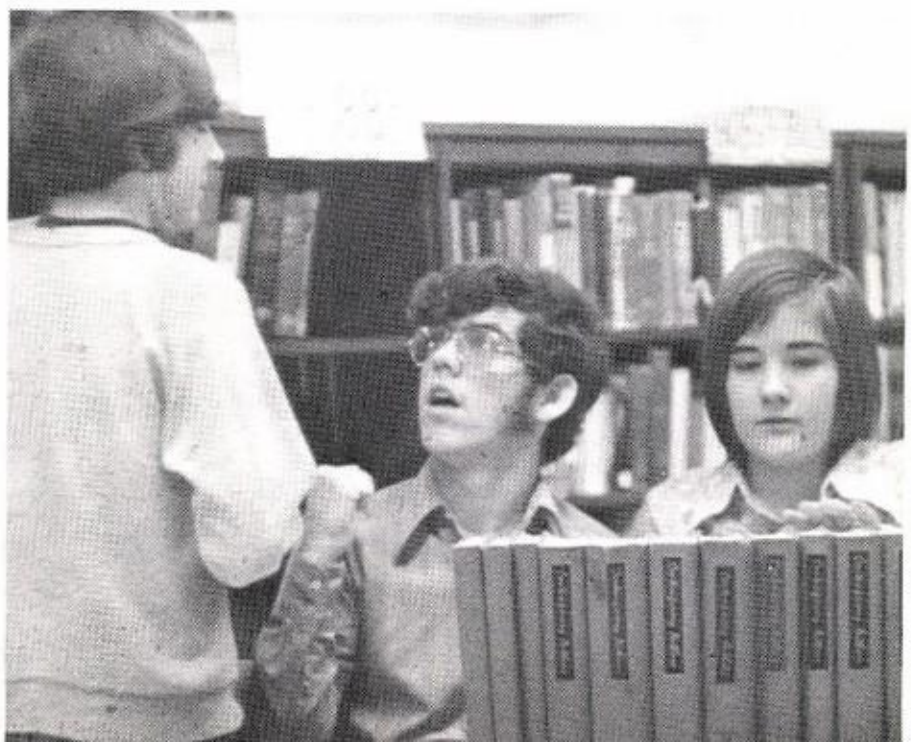
Beware of smiling photographers!



Bowling them over.

They don't call me Bobby Fischer for nothing!

Want a knuckle sandwich?



Oh, it is hot in here!

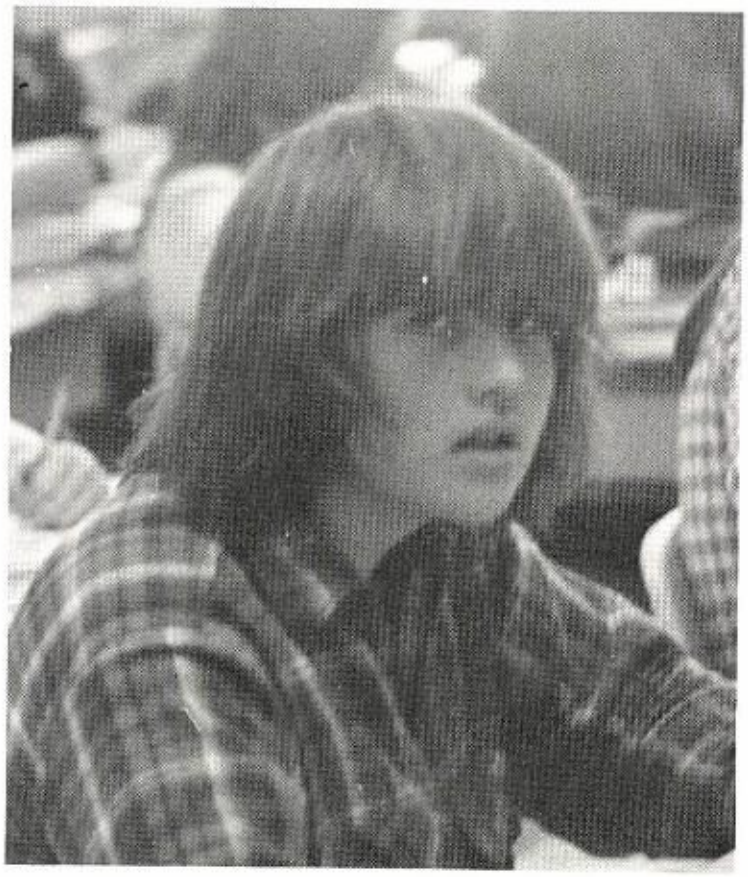
The contangent is equal if and only if the sum of the square roots is perpendicular to what?

And I can hide this stack of dirty plates under the counter.

Is that your bubble gum?

Is this any way to spend a lunch period?

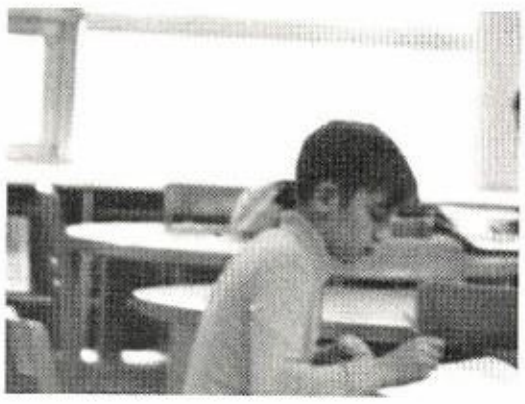
CLASS OF 75



Who says I need a hair cut?

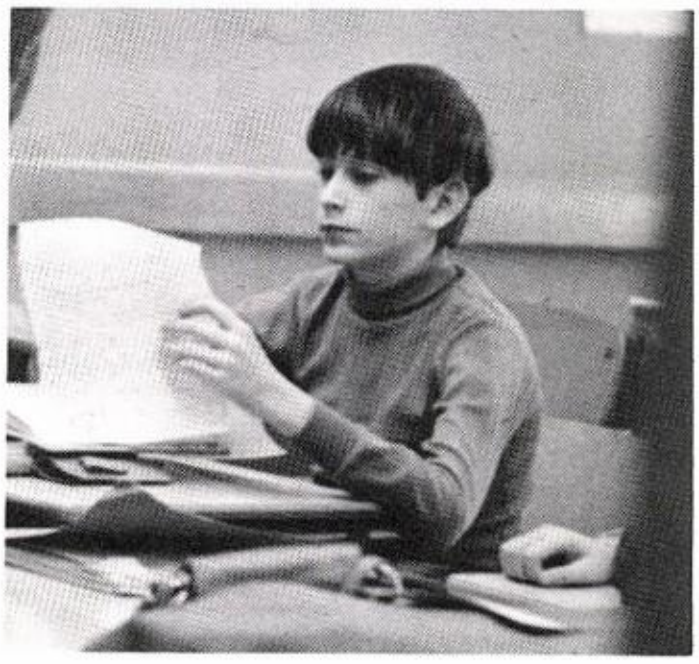
On three, we'll pull out the trampoline, OK?

Only two more pages to plagiarize and my report will be finished.

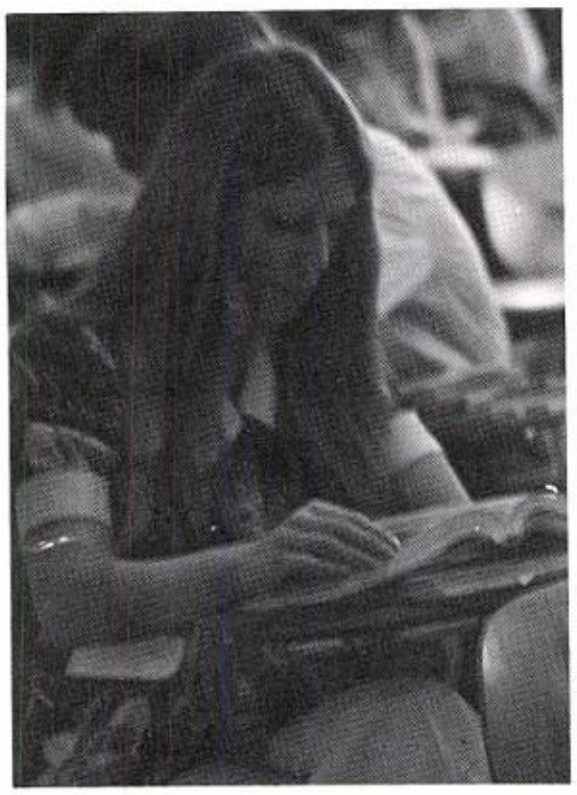


Are you going to Uncle Wally's too?

And then we got stuck on Hermit Road.

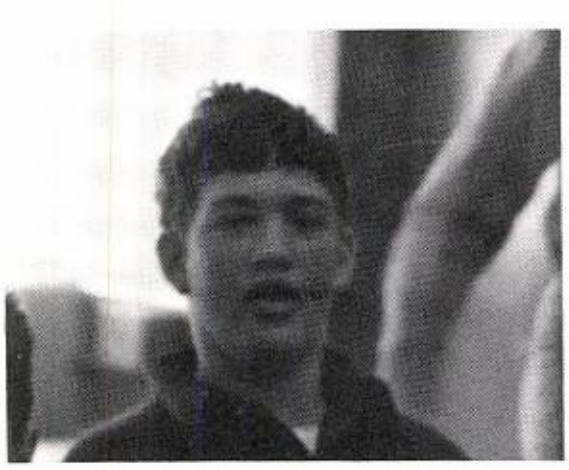


Cramming.

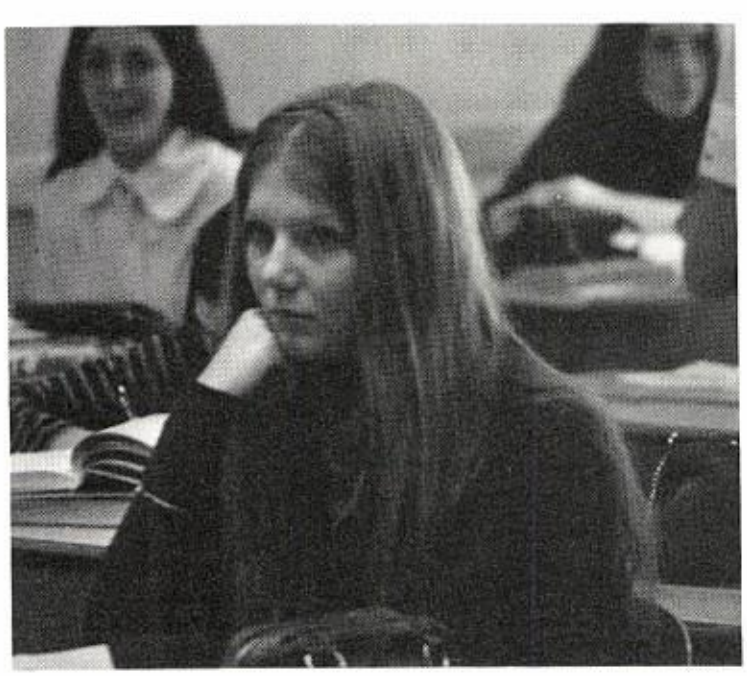


"In 1492, Columbus sailed the ocean blue . . . "

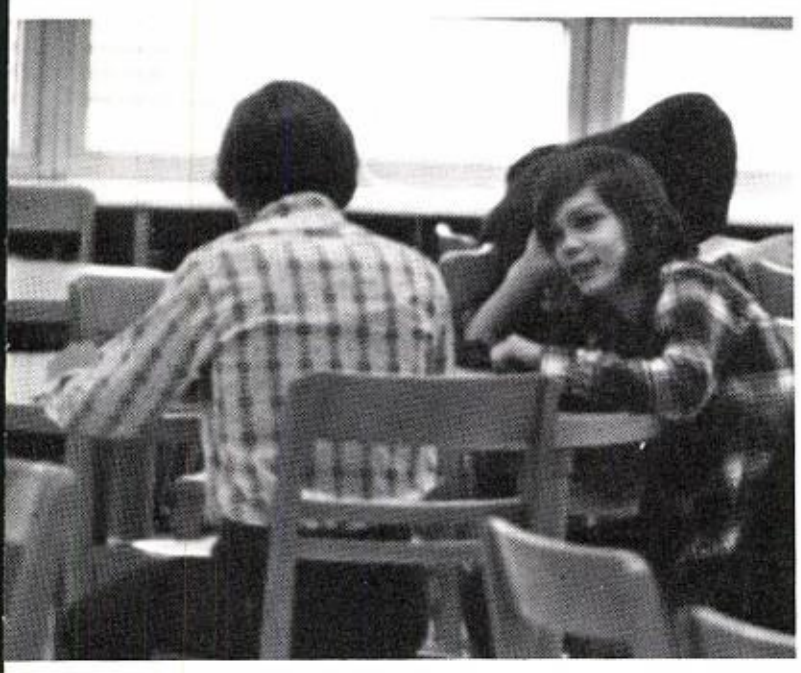
See, I told you it was here.



Sure, I know what detention is.



Far away places I'm going to see.



And then what did the Momma Bear say to the Poppa Bear?

My picture on the cover of the Rolling Stone?

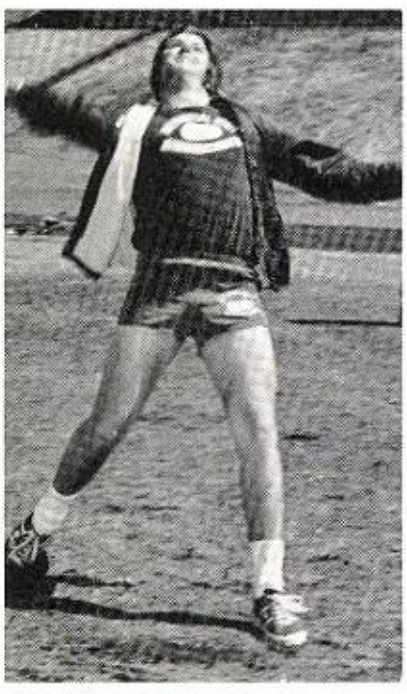
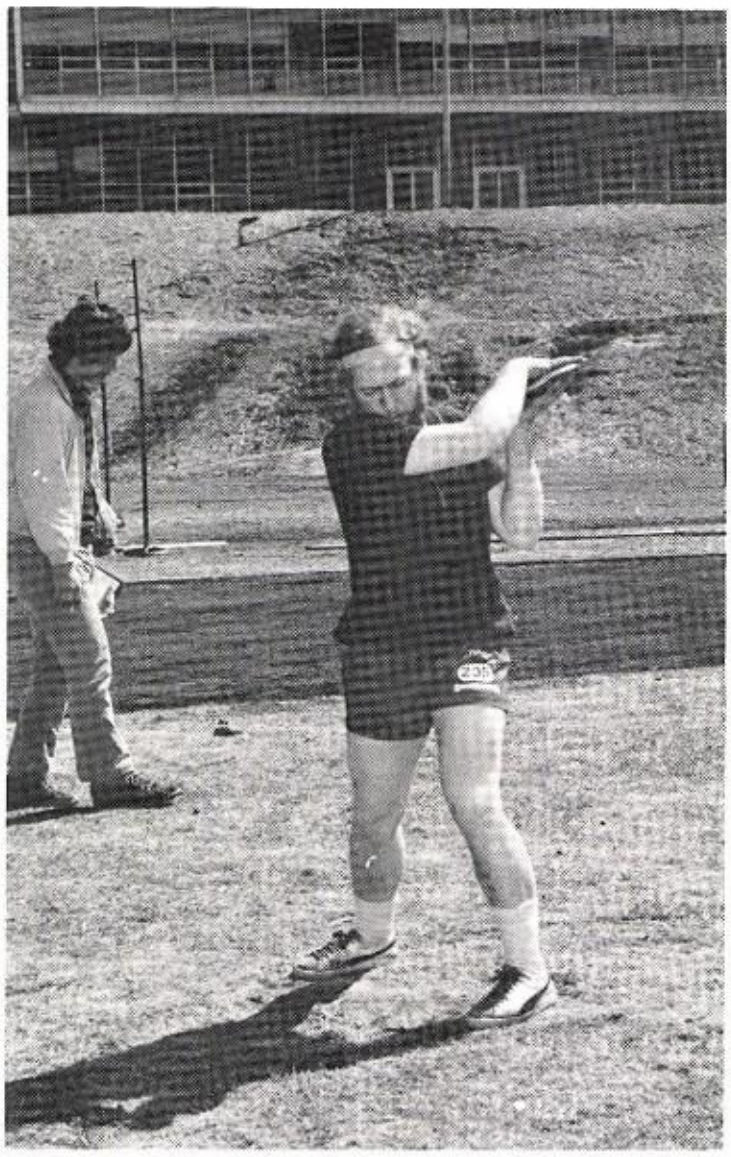
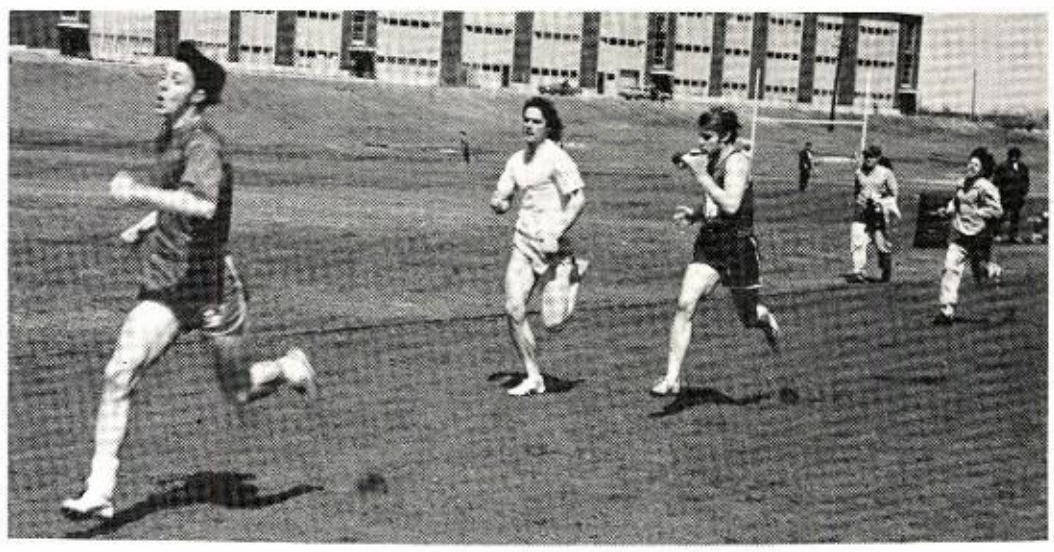
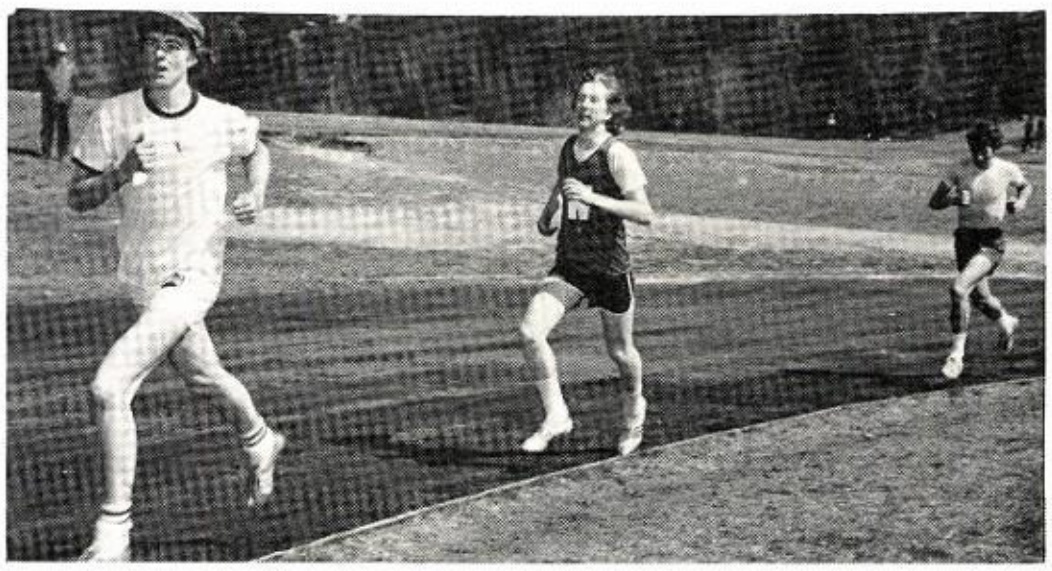
Absent: M. O'Hara, R. Jones.









This year's track team, under the capable and inspiring leadership of Coach Doug Glance, was one of the largest in the history of the school. They started the season with an overwhelming triumph over West, and despite subsequent lesser performances, the team's spirit was still at a record-breaking pitch. The members overcame the pressures and trials of working under a new coach.

Five of the top performers, Matthew O'Hara, Joe Pouliot, Jeff Robinson, Dave Stone, and Paul Zimmerman were decathelon men, and to do well in the ten-event contest was a high standard they set for themselves.

The second annual teachers' play, entitled "Keep '55 Alive," was presented to raise money for the Faculty Scholarship Fund. This year's performance was an original play written by five faculty members: Mr. Kolb, Mr. Samara, Mr. Moquin, Mr. Quirk, and Mr. Sullivan. Money was raised from ticket sales and food sales during intermission. Proceeds were awarded as scholarships to deserving Memorial seniors. The following faculty members comprised the cast and crew:

The annual Memorial Week began on April 2, with Candidates' Day which featured a mini-pageant for the candidates who were: Linda Dakoulas, Kathy Gatsas, Robin Henry, Karen Manni, Dave Croasdale, Tom Kathan, Skip Marshall, and Tim Poulin. The traditional Assembly Committee Folk Show was held in conjunction with Memorial Week and boasted a wide variety of talent, from rock to classical. As usual, the battle of the sexes waged on two fronts – the Nearlywed Game and the Dating Game. The Student Olympics was a large success this year, featuring the all-new ping-pong semi-finals as well as the traditional events. Thanks to some very talented and original performers, a Memorial Week favorite, the Untalented Hour, took place before a standing-room-only crowd. Other events included the Girls' Gym Show, the ping-pong finals and an exhibition by State Champ Claude Peltz. Rat Day was celebrated by an overwhelming number of seniors and a senior boys basketball team challenged the faculty team which won the city tournament. The week's events concluded with the dance featuring Oleo Strut and the crowning of Mr. Memorial, David Marshall, and Miss Memorial, Kathy Gatsas.
